UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
extended campus

Fall, 2019

IDigest - Bite-sized strategies for teaching online

Faculty Symposium Recap

At the third annual faculty symposium, the UW Extended Campus instructional design and multimedia teams gave presentations on a variety of topics such as instructor feedback, discussions, revisions, and even introduction videos.

If you weren't able to make it, or if you simply want a refresher, check out our blog post for its key takeaways.

Read Faculty Symposium: Feedback, Discussions, Revisions, and Introduction Videos, Oh My!

Instructional Design Blog

Covering topics from what it means to be an instructional designer to boosting student engagement in online discussions, our blog is chock-full of hand-picked content to improve your

Boundaries, Time, and Teaching Online

If the "Anytime, Anywhere" model of online education makes it difficult to find free time, or relax when you have some, read Creating Boundaries within the Ubiquitous Online Classroom to learn new strategies that can help you achieve a healthy work-life balance.

If you're pressed on time, read our blog article summarizing the article's strategies!

Spotlight Corner: Steve Dunn

Instructor Steve Dunn and instructional and your students online education experience.

Visit Our Blog!

designer Eric Peloza met up to talk about Steve's favorite time-saving strategies and tools.

Read the full interview here.

Interested in sharing your insights in a future Spotlight Corner? Contact Eric Peloza at eric.peloza@uwex.edu.

Effective Video Use in Online Courses
10/16/19 @ 12:00–1:00 pm CST

High Impact Practices in Online Courses (HIPs)
11/13/29 @ 12:00–1:00 pm CST